CIP updates the Construction Environmental Manual

Construction Industry Publications has published the latest update to the Construction Environmental Manual. The Manual is written by leading Environmental Managers and Advisors who represent a cross section of the UK's leading construction companies.

The latest update includes:-

- A description of many of the more common Environmental Assessment Schemes for construction projects is added.
- Further explanation on the application of the Guidelines for Sentencing on conviction for environmental offences by organisations and details of two actual cases are described together with their outcome.
- A section on the Circular Economy.
- The Building Management and Post Occupancy Evaluation process promoting future efficiency improvements is described.
- The requirement in England (from Jan 2015) to, if possible, separate dry recyclables is noted and 'TEEP' is explained.
- The Energy Savings Opportunity Scheme Regulations 2014 (ESOS) and the requirements for compliance are explained
- The Energy Company Obligation (ECO).
- Updated information on the areas of UK under 'water stress' and the amendments to the Permitting Regulations (EPR 2010) affecting small sewage discharges (SSDs) to water or ground are explained.
- A reference to the new WRAP tool 'measuRE'.
- A section on Embodied Carbon in the construction process.
- NEW Ecology and Energy checklists.

The Manual is aimed at site managers and supervisors of main contractors and subcontractors, in particular it should help project managers, site agents, site foremen and engineers address environmental issues in a practical way. The Manual outlines the principal applicable legislation, details what must be done in order to comply, describes best practice both in the planning and construction phases and is packed with practical real-life onsite examples.
